

ILPA Names Jennifer Choi as Acting CEO

June 27, 2022 (Washington, D.C.) Alison Nankivell, Chair of the Institutional Limited Partners Association (ILPA) Board of Directors, today announced that Jennifer Choi, Managing Director of Industry Affairs, has been named Acting CEO, assuming day-to-day management responsibility of ILPA. This announcement follows Steve Nelson’s decision to step down as ILPA CEO this week.

“We are grateful for all that Steve has accomplished since joining ILPA in 2018,” said Nankivell. “His leadership has put ILPA on strong footing and in a meaningfully evolved place in terms of the impact delivered to our members and the industry. Jennifer’s contributions to ILPA and the industry over the last several years position her exceptionally well to take on this leadership role.”

A long-tenured leader at ILPA, Choi will leverage a deep understanding of ILPA’s members and the opportunities facing the industry globally to build on the milestones achieved by the organization under Nelson’s leadership.

“It has been an honor to serve as the CEO of ILPA, and I am proud of all that the team has accomplished over the past four years, notably in the areas of ESG and DEI,” said Nelson. “I know that ILPA will continue to drive the important work of continued progress in industry best practices and ever stronger alignment of interest.”

Choi will remain as Acting CEO until the ILPA Board names a permanent successor.
