Key Learning Objectives

- Define the real assets landscape with a focus on the risk profile, investing considerations and industry trends of the asset class
- Learn how to identify real assets sourcing options and how to apply an evaluations framework and ESG considerations
- Assess the important considerations for building a real asset portfolio and the resourcing required for implementation
- Understand how to measure performance and the challenges with real assets benchmarking

Who Should Attend?

This program is part of the ILPA Institute's Comprehensive series of courses, which means this program is designed for the limited partner with less than three years of experience in real asset roles or those looking at adding real assets to their portfolio and seeking a foundational understanding.

ILPA Members May Take This Course in the Following Formats:

All classes (other than asynchronous) are delivered live, either in-person on location, or virtually via the Zoom platform, by ILPA's leading practitioner faculty. Groups of up to 35 participants from multiple LP organizations or a single LP organization engage in active lecture, discussion and peer-to-peer learning (including use of a custom-designed case study). Enhancements are made to the virtual experience to ensure the same level of peer-to-peer connections are made as in the live, classroom experience.

Live or Virtually With Participants From Multiple LP Organizations
